Giving beats taking every time

Our cover this month features Marjorie West who has single handedly raised over £37,000 for the NHS by steadily walking around her home. Marjorie was inspired by fellow WW2 veteran Captain Tom.

Marjorie's story was picked up by the BBC who came and featured Dedham as part of their coverage of the VE Day Stay at Home coverage. Thank you to everyone who helped to decorate our villages and welcomed the camera team to join in with their celebrations – especially everyone in East Lane!

The BBC wanted to explore what we could learn from the example of people like Marjorie and how their character and approach to life might inspire us today as we face our own battle against COVID-19.

Marjorie has reminded me that giving is stronger than taking. Do you recall the way that the Prime Minister, upon his return to work from intensive care, described COVID-19 as an unexpected and invisible mugger? The intent of a mugger is to take, nothing more nothing less, to take what belongs to someone else for themselves. COVID-19 has been taking lives, livelihoods, security and in some cases hope away from us since it came to our country.

But in her walking Marjorie has been giving to others, she has resolutely put one foot in front of the other and raised a huge amount for the NHS in sponsorship.

Her giving is mirrored across the country and in our community by the countless acts of kindness that are motivated by love. Love gives, and love wins. Giving is stronger than taking. It's through giving that we are beating this invisible mugger.

But there's more to giving even than that - not only does giving bless the receiver but it also blesses the giver too. Writing to the church in Ephesus St Paul says: 'You yourselves know that these hands of mine have supplied my own needs and the needs of my companions. In everything I did, I showed you that by this kind of hard work we must help the weak, remembering the words the Lord Jesus himself said: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.' Acts chapter 20 verses 34-35.

Giving is good for you! It makes you feel good when you give, and that's great too!

I hope that as we emerge slowly from the depths of this pandemic we will be wiser, kinder and more committed to giving than ever before.

Giving beats taking every time.
Take care,

Reverend Antony

SEWING4NHS

A Good News story: Shortly before the coronavirus pandemic and we went into lockdown, 30 people including myself, had moved into 23 new homes at Cannock Mill Cohousing in Old Heath, Colchester. We had started to arrange communal social activities, such as eating together a couple of times a week in the old, timbered watermill, our community house. Covid-19 brought a halt to plans for this new cohousing community: like everyone else, we had to keep 2m distance from each other, and several of our residents self-isolated in their new homes.

Linda cutting out scrubs

Social media came to the rescue when a neighbour saw a call to help Colchester General Hospital by making ‘scrubs’ for medical staff working under extreme pressure. Another of my neighbours co-ordinated a ‘working party’ and ordered the fabric (115 metres!). This had to be pre-shrunk by washing in several household’s washing machines, then dried over balconies and banisters. Residents working in their own homes formed an ‘assembly line’ to make copies of patterns onto paper, cut out tops and/or trousers, pockets and neckbands, while sewing machine owners stitched the parts together.

Others ironed, put drawstrings into waistbands, and did final finishing and pressing. Technology was invaluable, as all communication between us had to be by email or messaging. Homemade cakes were provided, and those residents not able to help practically contributed to the cost of the fabric.

Work in progress & the finished article

After 10 days of frantic work by some 15 individuals, 32 sets of scrubs were proudly delivered to the Hospital. Between us all the cost of material was donated, and we gave a generous donation to the Colchester & Ipswich Hospitals Charity Covid-19 Staff Wellbeing Appeal.. As Eve, one of the machinists, said: “....not a global supply chain, but good old-fashioned community collaboration”. And it was fun!

Jake Supports Key Workers the 3D Way

When Jake Lay-Flurrie was just 12 years old he was inspired to buy a 3D printer kit and build it at home from scratch. This has stood him in good stead as he now feels well placed to troubleshoot any difficulties that might arise. With his interest in design and engineering, the possibilities of a 3D printer seemed really exciting. For his GCSE project, he designed and built a prosthetic hand! Since then he has taken to designing and making products such as personalised gifts and Molle patches which he sells online from his home.

When Covid-19 forced most people to shut down and stock up on loo rolls, Jake decided to explore how he might be able to help. He found a group making medical supplies – specifically protective visors for medical staff that would be circulated by a central organisation. He set about making the headbands and had 150 ready to go when the organisation dropped from view.

Undaunted, Jake sourced the Perspex visor shields and now makes the entire thing. He realised he would struggle to pay for all the materials so he started a Go Fund Me page and raised enough to really get going without costing the recipients anything.

With 800 visor shields and more headbands in production Jake has been able to support carers and staff at Elm

Park (head injury unit in Ardleigh) and Manningtree Care Home with 60 visors each and more being distributed daily to local care providers.

When the Ardleigh Parochial Charities heard of the marvellous work this young man was doing, they provided him with a second 3D printer to support this vital work which benefits us all. Jake's dream is to turn his passion into a career.

I am sure that with young people like Jake, our future is in safe hands.

The Dedham Grammar School

For photographs and information I am indebted to Charles Clover, Chris and Emma Wheeler and Howard Bridge.

The Grammar School was founded in 1571 by a prominent Dedham clothier, William Littlebury to provide free education for twenty poor boys from Dedham, Ardleigh, Great Bromley, Bradfield and Stratford St Mary and soon began to admit some fee-paying pupils as well. In 1575 the school was granted a charter from Queen Elizabeth I and that explains why the space in front of the building is still known as Royal Square. The school's statutes describe how strictly it was run with long hours and few holidays. The boys' parents were expected to provide them with paper, ink, candles and a bow and arrows. Shooting practice took place on Archery Piece near the corner at the eastern end of the High Street, off what is now Brook Street and there were sports such as ball games and wrestling on the adjacent Camping Close. The Grammar School provided a classical higher education for boys destined for university, which was unsuited to the needs of many poor scholars; so in 1599 another clothier, Edmund Sherman, made provision in his will for an English or Writing School (the present Shermans) to teach the 3 Rs.

The Grammar School appears to have gone downhill after 1662, when the folio recording its statutes, ordinances and proceedings comes to an end, and headmasters came and went in swift succession but then its fortunes revived dramatically. During the eighteenth century there was a fruitful collaboration between two outstanding headmasters, the Rev. Thomas Grimwood at the Grammar School and William Colchester, who took over at the English School in 1730 and stayed nearly 43 years. Grimwood, who was appointed to the Grammar School in the same year at the age of twenty-four, was there for 48 years and his son, who was headmaster when John Constable was a pupil, followed him for another 20. Handsome new buildings for both schools were put up in the 1730s, evidently to the designs of the same master mason. Both are covered with the names and initials of the pupils carved into the brickwork, a practice evidently condoned by authority. Well House, which provided accommodation for boarders, has a Latin inscription reading 'Thomas Grimwood, Master of this School, 1732'. It is thought to have been built slightly later than the Headmaster's House (the present Old Grammar School) facing the square, so as to connect it with an earlier timber-framed schoolroom to the east (demolished c.1920) on what is now the front garden of the Beech House. The boys had dormitories on the top floor of the headmaster's house and the prefects slept above the old schoolroom.

In its heyday during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the Grammar School with this long range of three combined buildings must have dominated the centre of Dedham and the social and commercial life of the community. Its success is reflected in the architecture of the High Street, where many of the late medieval houses belonging to well-to-do residents, whose sons were among the pupils it educated, were given fashionable new Georgian fronts. Sheldrakes opposite the school is said to have been its tuck shop. An extra schoolroom on Frog Meadow was added by headmaster Dr Gerald Thompson Lermitt in 1868 to accommodate the growing number of pupils and cater for the increased demands of science in the curriculum at that time. A few years earlier a cottage on Royal Square was replaced by Duchy House described in a later legal document as “the hospital”, suggesting that it was the sanatorium for the Grammar School.

Just before the Christmas holidays in 1875, when there were 90 boys on the school roll, there was an outbreak of scarlet fever in Dedham. Dr Lermitt reacted swiftly and stopped the return of the boys until he had arranged alternative accommodation for them all at Dovercourt, where lessons carried on as usual. This costly, protective isolation was successful and the disease did not spread. However other problems were looming. The Endowed Schools Act of 1869, set up to regulate existing Grammar Schools, had required the English School to be replaced by a new Boys’ Elementary School in Crown Street (now the Old Schoolhouse on the corner of Parsonsfield), which was built in 1882 and cost £712 - 10s. A considerable outlay on sanitary works

A print by Alfred Montague showing the Grammar school in 1839. The gate in the south-east corner of the square led to the school playing field. The cottage beside it was replaced in the mid nineteenth century by Duchy House.

Members of the Lermitt family on the doorstep of the Grammar School in the 1860s. Note (far right) the corner of the recently-built Duchy House and other improvements to the Grammar School's property was also needed. Then, after an outbreak of diphtheria, the water supply was found to be impure and a new artesian well had to be sunk where the pump still stands. This was of great benefit to the community, which had free use of it with the Parish Council paying a shilling a year in rent. However for the Grammar School it was the final blow. So much heavy expenditure had caused an unmanageable debt and on the resignation of the Headmaster, the Rev. William Corbett in 1889, the decision was taken to close down for the time being. The Dedham Curate continued teaching the few boys left until Christmas 1893 but the school never re-opened.

The building was let to a succession of tenants until 1906 and then left empty. By the 1920s it had become The Old House Hotel and from 1937 to '49 it was the home and antique shop of the Hon. Mrs Stella Hamilton, mother of the cookery writer Elizabeth David. Since 1950 the Old Grammar School and Well House have been separate private houses.

View of our garden, By Ruth Higginson

History repeats itself
Written in 1869, reprinted during 1919 Pandemic...

This is Timeless....

And people stayed at home
And read books
And listened
And they rested
And did exercises
And made art and played
And learned new ways of being
And stopped and listened
More deeply
Someone meditated, someone prayed
Someone met their shadow
And people began to think differently
And people healed.
And in the absence of people who Lived in ignorant ways
Dangerous, meaningless and heartless,
The earth also began to heal
And when the danger ended and
People found themselves
They grieved for the dead
And made new choices
And dreamed of new visions
And created new ways of living
And completely healed the earth
Just as they were healed.

Midsummer and the June drop

June is here! It's halfway through the year and midsummer is on the horizon, bringing with it the longest day of the year but the slow shortening of each one as we slide towards winter.

But let's not get ahead of ourselves (or depressed); there's still plenty to do and enjoy.

Right now in my garden Weigela 'Bristol Ruby' is in flower, as are the purple-pink pompoms of Allium hollandicum, floppy deep pink and purple cranesbill (hardy Geranium), golden daylilies (Hemerocallis), royal-purple 6ft Delphinium 'Nimrod' and the shorter but no less lovely spires of pink, white and purple Verbascum 'Pink Domino', Verbascum chaixii 'Album' and Verbascum phoeniceum, which were grown from seed and are now shooting up in all the borders.

June is also the month for tall bearded irises (Iris germanica) to do their thing. I can't identify the varieties I'm growing, but perhaps you're growing the navy blue 'Belle Hortense'. Whatever the case, leave them where they are after they've finished flowering so their rhizomes can bake in the sun all summer to guarantee another show next year.

Also blooming, of course, are the roses. As well as the front garden practically dedicated to them, they make an appearance in every border behind the house. I have too many to name but, as they get into their stride this month, deadhead repeating varieties to keep the show going. Don't just snip them off behind the flower, take your secateurs down to the next leaf join – you might be able to see a small bud where the leaf joins the stem: slope your cut down away from it and you should see another flower bloom from here later in the season. Deadheading is deeply satisfying and an almost zen moment when I get to look around and appreciate the hard work that goes into maintaining the garden.

Once they are done and the leaves are looking tatty, you can also take your secateurs to oriental poppies (Papaver orientale). Cut right back to the ground, water them well, feed them and mulch to keep the moisture in and you'll help them to put on fresh growth and maybe some new flowers. And if you're cutting back you can be clipping; so – provided there are no birds nesting – take some shears to any box hedges that edge your borders.

Although it's too early for most to flower, fuchsias will have been sprouting since May so it's a good idea to pinch out the tips to encourage side shoots, a bushier habit and more flowers. While I'm sure that's helpful for young plants or bedding fuchsias, I'm not doing that on my 4ft Fuchsia magellanica var. gracilis 'Aurea' bush – I'll be at it all summer! You can also pinch out the leading shoots on Chrysanthemum and Helianthus (sunflower), but if you are going to try and grow big blooms (maybe for show), don't pinch out the tip; instead pinch out sidebuds lower down the stem so the plant puts all its energy into growing a single large flower at the top. Check online for more details to do this well.

Most seeds have been grown on and planted out by now, but you can start sowing biennials – foxgloves, nicotianas and wallflowers among others – for next year. Biennials spend their first year putting all their effort into building strong roots and foliage, before flowering next summer. You'll just need a sheltered area, ideally a cold frame or growhouse if you have one, to get them through the winter.

Last month was the Chelsea chop, this month it's the June drop when fruit trees naturally thin their crop. You can do it by hand too for better fruit: aim for two pears per cluster, one apple and plums to be 5-8cm apart. I have three blueberry bushes in pots using ericaceous compost and it's important to try to water them with rainwater; why not install some rainwater butts this summer if you don't have them already.

Finally, enjoy the last harvests of asparagus this month, then leave the ferns to develop over the summer and feed the crowns for next year's spears.

Dedham Horticultural Society

Unfortunately, due to continuing coronavirus precautions, the Dedham Horticultural Society committee has decided to cancel our plant sale (23 May), coffee morning (11 June) and visit to Barnsdale Gardens (25 June).

For the latest updates, please see website www.dedhamgardening.wordpress.com.

STOUR VALLEY U3A has set up a number of support systems for its members during the coronavirus pandemic.

These include dedicated helplines for those self isolating in East Bergholt and Manningtree/Mistley/Lawford to help with basic needs such as food shopping and prescription collections.

A general support group for members is also available for those living in East Bergholt.

Lectures for April, May and June have been postponed until July, August and September, pending government advice.

A weekly newsletter is being circulated to all 400 members to keep them informed with news and updates.

For further information visit: <https://u3asites.org.uk/stourvalley/home> or contact chairman Graham Manuel gandamauel@gmail.com or secretary Sue Basted susanbasted10@gmail.com

WEA Dedham Branch

We are hoping to be able to start the Autumn Lectures in October as usual. However there is no guarantee at the present time. Hopefully we will know by July/August. Until then you can go on the WEA website using the following link www.wea.org.uk/online and register for updates on the free courses and activities they are running. There are some very interesting activities.

It is possible to use a landline phone for some of the courses. You would need to ring their helpline to find out how this is done. Otherwise you would need a laptop, tablet, mobile phone if you want to participate using Zoom.

If you have a general query about the Dedham WEA please ring

Constable Country Medical Practice

Coronavirus Update: It has been a challenging time for all of us over the last couple of months. The practice has put in place many measures to enable patients to continue to receive medical advice and treatment, whilst minimising risk to both patients and staff. Many of these measures will remain in place for the foreseeable future. Until a vaccine becomes available, we all continue to be at risk of contracting the virus and the fall in the number of confirmed cases is due to national and local measures which have been put in place. If we relax these measures too early then the number of confirmed cases may well increase again.

Our primary objective at the practice is to minimise the need for patients to come to the practice at all, but if they need to then to minimise the risk. Here is a summary of the measures we have put in place:

- If possible, submit any medical or admin query via our online eConsult service. Visit our website and follow the link. We aim to respond to all eConsults within 2 working days.
- If you cannot use eConsult or if your need is urgent, our receptionists will place you on a triage list and one of our doctors or nurse practitioners will call you back.
- After triaging, our clinicians can set up a video consultation, or may decide they need to see you in person.
- If you need to come to the practice, the clinician will ask you to wait in your car with your mobile. The clinician will call you when they are ready to see you.

- You must tell us if you are experiencing any Covid symptoms such as fever, a new cough, or loss of taste and smell.
- Please wear a mask or wrap a scarf round your face when you come to the practice, and sanitise your hands.
- Our nurses and phlebotomists are still seeing patients whose need cannot wait. This includes blood tests requested by a doctor, dressings, cervical screening and child immunisations.

Our Capel site is open for limited times through the week for patients who need to be seen but cannot get to East Bergholt. The front doors remain closed to minimise the risk to patients visiting the pharmacy who can collect their medication from the side window. Patients seeing a phlebotomist, nurse or doctor are asked to wait in their car until they are called on their mobile number and asked to enter through the rear door.

Finally, we are still here to help our patients. Please feel free to contact us if you feel you need to speak to a clinician about any health concerns you may have. Also, please look out for vulnerable patients and if you have concerns regarding their health, please inform us.

Thank you for your continued support and cooperation.

Pete Keeble
Practice Manager

Parish Council

The work of the Parish Council continues despite the fact that our parish office is closed and we cannot have our usual meetings due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Councillors have held a practice 'Zoom' meeting to iron out technical challenges and we now propose to hold a formal meeting on Monday 1 June, which is our usual meeting date. Members of the public will be able to join us and participate in the meeting.

Please continue to check our website where all current updates will be posted. Although the Parish Clerk is not available in the office she is contactable at home by phone or e-mail (see below).

Footpaths: Our contractor has informed us that he is unable to cut our footpaths at present. We are working with him and others to try to find a solution to this. If you find a footpath that is particularly overgrown we would appreciate knowing about it.

Stour Valley Men's Probus Club

Recent Meetings: At our last meeting on Wednesday 4 March, Maureen Clarke talked to us about "The plight of street orphans in India". At our recent AGM Dave Carman was voted in again as President and Speaker Secretary, Graeme Forsyth as Secretary and Val Pretty as Treasurer.

Future Meetings: The committee and those present at the AGM agreed that in the light of the Coronavirus outbreak all Club meetings would be cancelled for the next few months. We always take a break in August and we therefore plan to meet again on 2 September 2020 when Jan Derbyshire will speak on the good work of "The Shelley Centre For Therapeutic Riding".

Meeting Venue: We meet at the convenient St John Ambulance HQ, Manningtree CO11 1EB

New members are welcomed. Our Club endeavours to be simple in structure, be free of the constraints and obligations of service clubs, and involve members to a minimal cost. New Members are always very welcome at all meetings of the Stour Valley Men's Probus Club, just join us at 10am on a meeting date. The club is directed primarily to providing fellowship between members who are compatible with each other, and provide the opportunity for development of acquaintances. We meet on the first and third Wednesday of each month in Manningtree at 10 for 10.30am.

Please contact President Dave Carman on 01255 880202 for further details.

The Essex Lottery is a weekly lottery run by Essex County Council to help the county's charities

Sixty percent of ticket sales goes to good causes that benefit Essex residents – more than double the proportion for the National Lottery. 50p from every £1 goes to the good cause chosen by the lottery player and 10p goes into a central fund for smaller causes.
Local charities or good causes can register free of charge.
